ALUMNI PRESIDENT SPEAKS

Dr. Ray R. Hagley

This is an open letter of thanks to you. It is intended, indeed, to express the gratitude of a warm admirer but, also, to inform our alumni what you have accomplished for our beloved University since 1945.

First, we thank you for your "open door" policy, with your personal interest and warm association with your students. You were never too busy to discuss the students' problems, and they benefited from your attitude.

Thank you for increasing our student enrollment from 1,950 to 8,533, while enlarging our full-time faculty from 91 to 295.

Thank you for the leadership that enabled our budget to rise from $463,000 to $6,253,239.

Thank you for obtaining the $21,253,130 expended for new buildings, land purchase and major renovations, in addition to the $7,126,595 worth of construction now under way. Thank you for leaving us the $8,350,000 in available funds for projects still in the planning stages.

Thank you for getting University status granted by the West Virginia legislature in 1961 and for later leading our fight for our own Board of Governors, a project that has been delayed but is inevitable.

Thank you for our entrance into the MAC in 1950. This membership has been of inestimable value to MU and we hope your successor appreciates its importance.

Finally, thank you, Dr. Smith for guiding us into this period of development of the new Marshall University, requiring millions of dollars and a continuation of your dedication and leadership. You have left us with a sense of activity, accomplishment and anticipation never before experienced at 16th Street. We sincerely appreciate it.

Ray R. Hagley, M.D.

ON THE GREEN

HARRY M. SANDS '58

Director of Development & Alumni Affairs

As I am writing this short greeting to you, there are several thoughts running thru my mind. Tomorrow I'm on my way to Chicago for the American Alumni Council conference. Each year the magazine editors, alumni directors and development directors from all the colleges in District V (Minnesota, Michigan, Wisconsin, Illinois, Indiana and Ohio) meet to discuss our program problems and come home with solutions or consolation in the fact that we all have problems.

I would like to ask you a favor though. Your Alumni Association has the potential and even some plans to improve higher education on our campus and in the state. We have some startling news to tell you within a year or so that you'll be glad to hear.

If I come back from Chicago with a brief case full of ideas to improve learning conditions, alumni services and so forth, I will need your help in putting the ideas into action. You may be contacted to help in one of several ways. If you are not, you can do your bit by contributing to the Towers Club, Old Beech Club or regular annual giving. We also appreciate letters with suggestions or complaints.

I'd like to express to you from the editors, the alumni office staff and the Alumni Association, Board of Directors, Merry Christmas and Happy New Year.

Letters To The Editor

Editors

The Marshall Alumnus

Gentlemen:

What seems to be a new look in the "Marshall Alumnus" is quite attractive and the Page Pitt feature cover most interesting, but Page would surely send you back to the copy desk for letting the story on the Invitational Tournament slip thru.

In the story, there is no indication of what type of game is to be played — tiddle-winks, horse shoes, jumping frogs . . . ! What?

It takes high-flying promotion to have a sell-out on an unknown contest. The magazine is really fine, however, and a pleasure to receive.

Very truly,
Charles "Mike" Rose
supervisor of art education
Elyria Public Schools

Editor's note — Thanks, Mike, for your appreciation of the "Alumnus" and for pointing out this oversight. The "tournament" will be a basketball tournament. However, editor Frances is a Miss! —

Dear Harry,

This is to request that our addresses be changed in your files, to wit:

Robert C. Cole '59
and Nancy Morford Cole '59
1711 Carlisle Street
Bethlehem, Pa. 18017

We moved last Wednesday.

I suppose John Murphy already has written you about this (he's not here for me to check), but I would like to say that we were much impressed by the last alumni magazine, with Page Pitt on the cover. The content and tone was forthright and striking; the comments of President Smith and Dean Bartlett were of the sort we like to get from our administrators. The magazine was encouraging to all alumni, I am sure.

We got a rise out of that Chief Justice centerfold, too. Miss Gandee made the Bethlehem papers (others, too, I'm sure), October 26, and we only wished she had been run bigger. Please relay our gratitude to the editor and yearbook adviser.

Sincerely,
Bob Cole '59

Editor's note — Bob is assistant editor of the Lehigh Alumni Bulletin and John Murphy, also a Marshall graduate, is editor of the Bulletin. They have received three national awards for their publication, "The Lehigh Bulletin."

In regard to the Chief Justice, it received a lot of publicity this year because of a totally new look. There were many typical scenes of the campus and many color shots. The highlight of the book was the centerfold of Miss Nancy Gandee, Miss Chief Justice, lying on a bear-skin rug in a bikini.

Dear Harry,

This past weekend I read the new "Marshall Alumnus" in detail, and I feel I must congratulate you on the excellent quality and interest in it. It is a fine publication, a real credit to Marshall.

Sincerely,
A. M. Tyson,
Dean of Arts and Sciences

Dear Harry,

Just wanted to send you a quick line to congratulate you on your last magazine. It is a dandy and something that will definitely aid your Alumni program. Keep up the good work.

Sincerely,
James E. Hof,
Director, alumni relations
Bowling Green State University

Gentlemen:

I received your annual notice of Homecoming today along with your request to participate in the "Annual Giving Fund".

As usual the notice of Homecoming arrived here on the last day of the event, Saturday, Nov. 4 and as usual my contribution envelope is herewith returned empty. I have, however, completed the form you sent.

Yours truly,
D. M. RYAN

Editor's note:

Thank you for your letter. Since it is of concern to all our Alumni, we will try to explain why your notice was late. First, we ask Alumni to realize that this office functions on a budget from the University of about $1,000 annually (in addition to the director's salary.) The balance of the projects you read about in this magazine are paid for by Alumni gifts. Last year MU Alumni contributed over $23,000 and placed this association in the same progressive giving category as the nation's best Universities. There are dozens of other projects that we handle, but don't have room to write about. These take time, money, and people.

The office has one secretary, two part-time employees, and five students working odd hours. By some miracle we are able to mail (often on time!) more than 180,000 pieces of mail per year. All of which must be printed, folded, stuffed in an envelope, sealed, addressed, separated by zip code, bundled, tied, and carried to the post office. We are doing the best we can to be of service to our 30,000 graduates and former students, and we are doing it on $23,000 in annual gifts and money from fund raising projects.

We appreciate your calling to our attention the late Homecoming notice. It is regrettable, and we will correct the problems as we grow.

MU Alumnus Appears On TV

John D. Layne, 1966 graduate of Marshall, appeared on the Joey Bishop Television Show Nov. 17. He got the appearance when he won first place in a talent contest in Huntington.

In addition to the appearance on television, he was awarded $1,000. John studied voice under John Creighton, professor of music at Marshall.

John has sung at well-known summer resorts and has done solo work in oratorios with the Huntington Symphony Orchestra.

He is employed in the personnel department of the Harvey Aluminum Corp. in Owensboro, Ky.

His wife is the former Charlotte Parsons, also a 1966 Marshall grad. She is a teacher in Owensboro City schools.

NEW MUSIC HALL

NEW MUSIC SECTION — The Music Department moved into their new quarters at the beginning of the fall term. The music section of the $3.8 million Stewart H. Smith Academic Center is located west of the classroom and office building. The two sections are connected by covered walkways and a student lounge. The music hall was named the Evelyn H. Smith Music Hall.

AUDITORIUM — The major feature of the new music quarters is the 476-seat auditorium which provides space for concerts. The walls of the auditorium are lined with special acoustical material. There are two rehearsal halls — one for choir rehearsal and another for orchestra rehearsal — as well as 35 practice rooms, a music laboratory, library and 22 studio offices.

Marshall Miscellany

By FRANCES CHIRICO '68

ARTICLE PUBLISHED

Dr. Hunter Hardman, professor of mathematics, had an article published in the October issue of The American Mathematics Monthly. The subject of the paper is Geometry of the Complex Domain.

GOAL TOPPED

Marshall's goal for the United Fund Drive was topped by students and faculty, according to Dr. Sam Clagg, professor of geography. The goal was $7,900 and $10,017 was collected.

PROFESSOR NOTED

The biography of John L. Martin, professor of Spanish, has been listed in "Who's Who in The East," a publication containing biographies of leading executives and officials in government, business, education, religion, the press, civic affairs and fine arts and law.

CONGRESS SLATED

Duncan Williams, associate professor of English, is to be one of 120 delegates from the United States and Canada representing the Modern Language Association at the 50th Jubilee Congress of the Modern Humanities Research Association to be held in Cambridge, England the latter part of August.

NURSERY MOVES

The Marshall nursery school is housed in President Smith's old house at 1636 Fifth Ave. The nursery school moved from Everett Hall, where it had been for 24 years. Miss Adela Strouss, associate professor of home economics, and 45 women in the child development department are in charge of the nursery school.

SILVER STAR GIVEN

M.Sgt. Walter Russell, operations sergeant to the Military Science Dept., was awarded the Silver Star by President Stewart H. Smith recently for gallantry in action in Vietnam. He also received the Bronze Star and Air Medal.

PAPER PUBLISHED

Kenneth L. Poff, professor of biology, has had a paper published in the August issue of "Plant Physiology." The paper is entitled "Four Low-Cost Monochromatic Sources of Known Equal Intensities."

NEWSLETTER PRINTED

The Marshall Alumni Association is publishing a newsletter monthly for the students. The title is "The Undergraduate Alumnus," and is aimed at keeping students informed on alumni affairs.

GEOLOGY WRITER

Dr. Raymond E. Janssen, professor of geology, is writing an article for the yearbook of the American People's Encyclopedia. Dr. Janssen has been writing articles on geology for the publication since 1950.

BEER VETOED

Sale of beer on the Marshall campus was vetoed by President Stewart H. Smith. President Smith remarked that there are "a score or more" places near the Marshall campus where beer is available.

SUMMER CLASSES SET

The 1968 summer sessions have been moved back one week. The first five-week summer term will open June 17 with regular registration. Classes will begin June 18 and end July 19. Registration for the second term will be July 22 with classes beginning July 23 and ending Aug. 23.

NATIONAL STATUS SOUGHT

Fourth Estate, women's journalism honorary, recently voted to seek membership in the national student and professional honorary, Theta Sigma Phi. All alumni that were members of this honorary are urged to contact the journalism department if interested in helping the group go national.

TV BUILDING

The old Music Building located between Laidley Hall and the Science Building has been renamed the TV Building. It houses Marshall's educational television station, WMUL-TV.

STUDENT IN CABINET

For the first time in Marshall's history, a student is a member of the Administrative Cabinet. Mike Farrell, Student body president and Huntington sencabinet. The cabinet consists of President Smith, the deans of each college and the administrative staff.

PUBLICATION INCREASES

Another first for Marshall is publication of The Parthenon three times a week instead of the usual two. The paper comes out on Monday, Wednesday and Friday. Second semester it will be published four times a week.

ROTC GROWS

A brigade-size union in the ROTC program has begun this year at Marshall. When the program was established in 1951, it was at battalion level. Auxiliary units will include the Pershing Rifles, Counter-Guerrillas and the Drum and Bugle Corps.

Journalism Offers MA

A masters of arts degree in journalism is being offered for the first time this year at Marshall. The State Board of Education approved the graduate program in August.

For students whose undergraduate majors were not in journalism, the Master's Degree requirement will involve 36 semester hours of graduate work.

William E. Francoise, chairman of the department of journalism, said the program consists of content and research methods courses designed to deepen the student's understanding of the economic, historical, ethical, cultural, social and psychological aspects of mass communications in modern society.

Each student must earn credit in 36 semester hours of approved courses if a thesis is not submitted for credit. A minimum of 18 hours must be earned in the major area of study and a minimum of six hours in a minor area.

Required courses include the theory of mass communications, and mass communications research and methodology. The program is expected to be fully operational for the spring term.

During first semester this year, a graduate class in magazine article writing is being offered by the department.

Admission to the program is subject to admission to the graduate school. Information and application forms are available from the Graduate School office on campus.

Faculty Appointments

Since the beginning of the school term, many faculty and staff have returned to campus and several have resigned.

A 1957 Marshall graduate, Robert P. Alexander, has returned to his position in the Placement Office.

Alexander

The Women's Physical Education Department is without a chairman due to the retirement of Dr. Alta Gaynor. The business of the department is being handled by Teachers College until a replacement is named.

Two new non-commissioned officers have joined the Military Science Department. They are Sgt. Maj. William J. O. Barnard of the 7th Infantry Division and M. Sgt. Walter Russell of the 4th Infantry Division in Vietnam.

A Marshall graduate, Ralph Turner,

Turner

Dr. Harry A. McGuff is the new chairman of the department of Business Administration. He graduated from Indiana Central College with a major in business administration. He received a master of science in education, a master's degree in business administration and a doctor's degree in business administration from the Graduate School of Business, Indiana University.

He is a member of Delta Pi Epsilon, Beta Sigma Gamma, American Economics Association and the American Accounting Association. He is listed in Who's Who in the Middle West and Who's Who in American Education.

Another new face at Marshall is leading the Big Green Marching Band. Robert Ray Clark, associate professor of music, is the new band director. Bob came from Saginaw, Mich., where he taught music in high school and directed the school band. He also taught at Duke University and has done graduate work in music.

Jack Lee Hughes has been appointed assistant instructor in education at the Marshall Laboratory School.

Recently appointed to the position of

Jones

Jones received his AB degree from Marshall in 1959 and was a captain in ROTC and a member of the varsity football team. He received a masters degree from Marshall in 1960 and became assistant director of admissions here. He held the position until last January when he accepted a position as manager of student records for the American College Testing Program, Iowa City, Iowa.

Three new faculty members have joined the Physics and Physical Science Department. The Physical Science department was established this year under the direction of Dr. Donald C. Martin, professor of physics and former chairman of the Physics Department.

The new members are Drs. Thomas J. Manakkil and Warren L. Dumke, assistant professors of physics, and James Rutherford, assistant professor of physical science.

The position of vice president of academic affairs is still vacant after the resignation last summer of Dr. J. Stewart Allen.

James R. Vander Lind, associate dean

Vander Lind

He is a graduate of Hope College in Holland, Mich. and received his master's degree from Michigan State University at East Lansing, Mich.

of students, has resigned effective Jan. 1 to return to Ohio University to continue work toward his doctorate degree. He has been at Marshall since September, 1965, as associate dean of students.

Thurman Watts, the son of Mr. and graduated in 1958 from Marshall and received a B.B.A. degree.

Mr. & Mrs. Watts

Major Watts received his commission through the Reserve Officers' Training Corps program at Marshall.

His wife, Patricia, is presenting the insignia.

JOSEPH WILLIS

Joseph F. Willis, 23, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry A. Willis of Scott Depot, was commissioned an Army second lieutenant upon graduation from the Army Officer Candidate School at Ft. Knox, Ky. Sept. 13.

He received his B.A. degree in 1965 from Marshall. His wife, Judith, lives in Lansing, Mich.

DENNIS HILL

Dennis R. Hill, 23, was promoted to Army rank of specialist four at Camp Ross, Korea, where he is serving with the 2nd Infantry Division.

He graduated from Marshall in 1966.

CHARLES HONAKER

Ensign Charles Rodney Honaker, USNR, has been ordered to the Naval Reserve Training Center for temporary duty after being commissioned at the Officer Candidate School at Newport, R. I.

He is a 1967 graduate of Marshall.

WARREN HARRIS

Army Major Warren S. Harris is attending a 10-month regular course at the Army Command and General Staff College in Ft. Lavenworth, Kan. He received an M.A. degree from Marshall in 1967.

In The Service

JON R. SHEETS

Captain Jon R. Sheets, 28, completed a six-month ordnance officer career course Aug. 16 at the Army Ordnance Center and School, Aberdeen Proving Ground, Md.

He entered the Army in 1960 after graduation from Marshall that same year. He received his commission through the Reserve Officers' Training Corps program at the university.

FRED KEMP

Army Major Freddie L. Kemp is attending a five-month course at the Armed Forces Staff College in Norfolk, Va.

He entered the Army in January 1955 and was last stationed in Vietnam. He is a 1955 graduate of Marshall with a B.A. degree.

Major Kemp has received the Bronze Star Medal and 34 awards of the Army Commendation Medal, and the Distinguished Flying Cross.

THOMAS JEFFERSON

Second Lieutenant Thomas E. Johnson completed a transportation officer basic course Sept. 15 at the Army Transportation School at Ft. Eustis, Va.

Lt. Johnson received his commission through the Reserve Officer's Training Corps program at Marshall where he received his degree May 1967. He is married to Cathy Call, a '67 graduate and Queen Candidate at past spring's Mid-American Conference Championships.

JOSEPH SOTO

Army Second Lieutenant Joseph L. Soto completed the Adjutant General Officer basic course at Ft. Benjamin Harrison, Ind.

Lt. Soto received his commission through the Reserve Officers' Training Corps program at Marshall where he received his B.B.A. degree this year. Lt. Soto is the son of Marshall vice president Joseph S. Soto.

DAVID M. PERRY

David M. Perry has been commissioned a second lieutenant in the Air Force after graduation from officer training school at Lackland, AFB, Texas.

He graduated from Marshall in 1967 with a degree in English. He also has studied at Pratt Institute in New York and the University of Georgia.

WILLIAM VOGEL

Army Captain William M. Vogel, 28, has assumed command of Company E of the 9th Infantry Division's 15th Engineer Battalion in Vietnam.

He entered the Army in 1962 after receiving a B.E.S. degree from Marshall. He received his commission through the Reserve Officers' Training Corps.

Enrollment Increases

The total enrollment this year of the main campus, two branch colleges and the extension classes is 8,533 students. This compares with 8,138 for the fall term of 1966 and reflects an increase of 4.85 per cent.

Teachers College has the largest enrollment, 3,302 students; College of Arts and Sciences has 3,027; College of Applied Sciences has 418, and graduate school has 838.

Male students outnumber coeds on the main campus by 43. Last year the men outnumbered the women by 409.

Increases at the branch colleges include an enrollment of 306, an increase of 19 over last year. The Williamson Branch College reports 239, an increase of 11.

Registration figures show 403 students enrolled in the nine extension centers at Williamson, Beckley, Charleston, Logan, Montgomery, Ravenswood and St. Marys.

Science Grant Research Begins

A $30,300 grant from the National Science Foundation is being used to study certain compounds of Boron for theoretical purposes, according to James E. Douglass, associate professor of chemistry.

Announcement of the grant was made recently by U. S. Sens. Robert C. Byrd and Jennings Randolph and Rep. Ken Hechler. The grant is for 24 months and is officially designated as a study of "Bisamine Complexes of Boronium Ions."

The money will be used for equipment, graduate research assistants and secretarial help concerned with the study.

Construction Works Looms

Construction now in progress on the Marshall campus includes renovation and additions to Laidley and Hodges Hall dormitories.

Excavation has started on Twin Towers dormitory and dining facilities, which will occupy the old Kroger lot on Fifth Ave. between 18th and 19th Streets.

Library construction is progressing and should be completed in the spring.

Construction on South Hall is on schedule and students should be occupying the new upper floors around January.

Laidley and Hodges Hall additions to the front of the buildings will increase the housing capacity.

Final plans and specifications are being made for the new Student Center to be erected on Fifth Ave. from Elm Street East to the Campus Christian Center. Ground-breaking is scheduled for the last of March or the beginning of April.

Future plans include an extension of the Science Building for the engineering department and a parking port across from the University on Third Avenue.

Police Force Hired For MU Campus

A welcome sight on the Marshall campus this year is the six policemen who have been hired for campus security.

This is the first time policemen have been hired on the campus, even though the need has been evident for several years.

The growth of the student body, faculty and staff prompted the state legislature to authorize the State Board of Education to employ policemen to protect persons and property of the university community.

Those appointed include Paul Bloss, Norman E. Miller, Charley Cumpston, French H. Woods, Clifford E. Hanshaw and Robert E. Strank.

MU'S First Family

PRESENTING TROPHIES — One of the pleasant duties during the past 20 years for President Smith was that of presenting awards to many outstanding students, including the beauty queens on campus. This picture was taken in the Student Union.

By FRANCES CHIRICO

On the evening of Nov. 7 the campus was stunned and saddened by The Parthenon extra edition news that President Stewart H. Smith had submitted his resignation to the West Virginia Board of Education.

Dr. Smith came to Marshall Sept. 1, 1945 as dean of the Teachers College. He became acting president Aug. 9, 1946 and president in 1947.

"I don't plan to retire," said President Smith, "Mrs. Smith and I plan to travel and visit our families. My career here has been rather confined."

He explained that the reason he chose to submit his resignation was "I feel Marshall needs a change in leadership and I also think it will be good for me."

The following is part of a statement issued by President Smith in connection with the announcement of his resignation:

"Wherever a man works, he leaves a little part of himself. My five years of teaching and almost 37 years of administration have been filled with high adventure and exciting challenges: yet, looking back, my twenty-two-and-a-half years at Marshall have been the most satisfying and rewarding years of my life.

"Reflecting upon our long association with Marshall, Mrs. Smith and I realize how much so many people and so many things have meant to us. What has been done here at Marshall during my tenure was due to the loyalty, dedication, energy, intelligence and friendliness of countless people. I wish I had the eloquence to thank all of them—the members of the University administration, faculty, staff and students. They have been most generous of their time and talent.

"We are deeply grateful to all of them. Our thanks and appreciation go to many alumni and people in Huntington, the members of the West Virginia Board of Education, state officials and members of the State Legislature, our congressmen and U. S. senators."

Many changes have taken place at Marshall during President Smith's administration. One of the highlights of his 20 years was in 1961 when Marshall

Academic Center Dedicated

Several days after the announcement of President Smith's resignation, the Academic Center was dedicated. President Smith was surprised on the day of the dedication to hear the name of the new building. The name chosen was "Stewart Harold Smith Academic Center."

The announcement of the dedication was made by Dr. Leslie Martin, a representative of the West Virginia Board of Education.

While the president received a standing ovation from the crowd gathered in Smith Center, Mrs. Smith gave him her own congratulations—a hug and a kiss.

The board's announcement cited "The dynamic leadership which Stewart Harold Smith has given to Marshall University during the 22 years of its greatest academic growth." It noted "those qualities of humaneness, integrity and spiritual growth which have characterized his leadership and his relations with faculty, students, alumni and friends of Marshall."

Smith Center is an eight-story structure which houses the department of art, history, journalism, modern languages, political science, sociology, anthropology and speech.

The Music Hall section named the "Evelyn Holberg Smith Music Hall", provides classrooms, practice rooms, offices and studios. The first floor houses the 480-seat recital hall, band and orchestra rehearsal rooms, choral rehearsal rooms, classrooms, music library with listening laboratory and music faculty lounge.

Will Be Missed

College became Marshall University.

The school has increased its enrollment to 8,533 this year. In 1946 when President Smith first came, it was 3,358.

In regard to these changes President Smith said "Marshall University is on the move, but there are many things to be done. I would remind our administrators, faculty, staff and students that they are a part of a great institution which knows no frontiers and which in our times is perhaps more vital than ever before in history, if we are to measure up to the opportunities of the unparalleled era."

Extensive Background

Born on a farm in York County, Pa., Dr. Stewart H. Smith gained his first schooling in a one-room country school and went from there to complete his high school education at York High School.

He graduated from Gettysburg (Pa.) College with a bachelor of science degree and from Columbia University with a master of arts degree.

Dr. Smith received his Ph.D. degree from Syracuse University. His honorary degrees include Doctor of Letters from Gettysburg College, Doctor of Laws from Morris Harvey College and Doctor of Humane Letters from Rio Grande College.

As an undergraduate at Gettysburg, he was elected to membership in Phi Beta Kappa and served as student body president in his senior year.

His experience includes teaching English in high schools, supervising principal of schools in New York State, college and university teaching, college dean and president of Marshall since 1947.

He has been active in the affairs of the Boy Scouts and the Lutheran Church plus work in other civic, community and charitable organizations.

He is married to the former Miss Evelyn Marian Holberg of Belleville, N. J. They have three sons and a daughter.

FRIENDLY — President Smith always has a smile ready for any student he encounters on campus. His office is one that reflects friendliness and warmth. This picture shows one of his familiar images on campus.

Homecoming Highlights

HOMEcoming GAME — As the Thundering Herd battle Bowling Green on Homecoming weekend, the alumni section in the background

By EVERETT ROUSH '54, D.D.S.

Cavaliers and their ladies, from as far away as Mexico City and Hopatcong, N. J. (and people say W. Va. town's have odd names) gathered at the Holiday Inn for their 11th annual Cavalier Homecoming Banquet.

Dave Friedlander, master of ceremonies and chairman of the dinner this year, introduced Charlie Kautz, assistant director of athletics and a former coach, who spoke briefly on the future plans of the athletic department and then demonstrated how the coaching staff utilizes game films in improving the team's performance. "Football is now a science and players must have mental, as well as physical ability, to compete."

Following a few comments from Cavalier Alumni President, Dave Hale, Dave Robinson announced the results of the Board of Governors election: Jim Noll, president; Dave Friedlander, vice president; Dave Robinson, secretary, and, John Fife, treasurer. Joe Neff was elected to the Board and Everett Roush will continue as Executive Secretary.

As with all Cavalier gatherings, everyone talks at once. Most of the news

items below were picked up following the banquet, when everyone moved over to Lois and Grover Hamrick's open house.

Richard Milton, our man in Mexico, returned home with wife Evy and two children for Homecoming and a vacation after two years overseas in Lima, Peru and Mexico. Richard is a protective officers in the Consular Section of the U. S. Embassy in Mexico City.

Capt. John Pack admits that he is "one of those fools who jump out of perfectly good airplanes. I made two jumps while I was with the 1st Cavalry Division in Viet Nam." John is now Commanding Officer of the 1st Instructor Company at Fort Lee in Virginia.

Although Louie DeVaughn (he's the one from Hopatcong, N. J.) says he is an engineer at the Picatinny Arsenal in New Jersey, he frequently can be seen taking visiting Marshallites on tours of New York City.

John Sayre, now with the alumni office at Northern Ill. U., sent word that he plans to have a MU alumni meeting in February when Marshall plays N.I.U. in basketball.

By FRANCES CHIRICO

Wet, rain and cold weather did not keep Marshall fans and alumni from attending the weekend of events.

Around 500 alumni attended the various activities which included a breakfast, reception, buffet dinner and dance.

The class of 1958 had the most alumni attending.

An award was given to the family that came the farthest for the weekend. This award went to Mr. and Mrs. Joel B. Srodes of Sarasota, Fla. Mrs. Srodes is the former Carolyn Johnson. Both of them are graduates of 1961. Joel is a stockbroker in Sarasota and they have 2 boys and one girl.

Awards were also given to the oldest classes represented. Bob Fish of Huntington represented the class of 1931 and Max Brooks of Marlinton represented the class of 1936. Max is retired superintendents of schools of Pocahontas Co.

The alumni that registered showed the following states represented at the alumni events: Ohio, 15 graduates; Pennsylvania, five graduates; Florida, five graduates; North Carolina, four graduates; Kentucky, two graduates; Indiana, three graduates; New York, two graduates; Virginia, six graduates; Massachusetts, four graduates; Washington, D. C., three graduates; and West Virginia, 177 graduates.

Student activities included a concert with the Drifters, the Marsels and Major Lance and a dance at the Field House.

Homecoming queen was Miss Jackie Bernard of Huntington. Her attendants included Lynda Clay, Huntington junior; Merle Wiley, Baltimore, Md., sophomore; Alice Cook, Man freshman; Neva May, Williamson Branch attendant and Cynthia Noe, Logan Branch attendant.

Winners in the house decoration competition included a tie for first place by Alpha Xi Delta and Phi Mu sororities. Fraternities winning the competition included Lambda Chi Alpha, second place, and Pi Kappa Alpha, first place.

Laidley Hall won the sign competition.

Dr. Ernestine Moore Finds The Alma Moore College

An alumnus of Marshall has founded an unusual type of college. Dr. V. Ernestine Moore is founder of The Alma Moore College in Wilmington, Del. which caters to the interests and special requirements of women above the usual college age.

The college, which began operation Sept. 19, is geared to women with or without college experience. A high school education is required.

Dr. Moore received her bachelor's degree from Marshall in 1944, a masters degree from the University of Pittsburgh and her doctorate from New York University.

Born and reared in St. Albans, Dr. Moore named the College for her mother, Mrs. Alma Moore of St. Albans.

According to Dr. Moore, the curriculum has been designed to appeal to women who want to broaden their knowledge, skills and understanding; women who want to make an easy transition back into the academic and business communities; women who feel the need to become more stimulating companions to their husbands, children and friends; women who wish to develop their own identity through self-actualization, and women who want to make new friends with interests similar to their own.

"These are college courses which are slanted toward the woman who has not been in school recently," Dr. Moore said.

"She can pursue them without having to compete with younger students who are more accustomed to study. Furthermore, she need not attend class three times a week for a three-credit course as each class will meet only one day per week."

Some of the courses offered include office skills, review, communication skills and late 18th century, USA.

Dr. Moore was personnel director of Wilmington Trust Co. for 14 years before founding the college. She taught at Dunbar High School, Rio Grande College and Stephens College.

Alum Produces Television Star

A 1956 Marshall University graduate, Mrs. Mary Tweel Jones of California, has produced a budding young television star. Mrs. Jones' daughter appears on the weekly television program "Family Affair" in which she plays Buffy.

Buffy, whose real name is Anissa Jones, is nine-years-old and brother Paul is eight-years-old.

According to Mrs. Jones, her daughter doesn't care about being interviewed and doesn't give publicity much thought. She likes to play when she is not acting.

Buffy has never had any trouble keeping up with her lines for the television show. She keeps a script for the show in the back seat of their automobile. During the drive to the studio from their home in Playa Del Ray, a distance of 22 miles, Buffy learns her lines.

Mrs. Jones and her family visited in Huntington this summer with relatives.

Keeping up with studies is no problem for Buffy since she has a teacher who sees that her education isn't neglected. When Buffy is on tour, the teacher goes along.

Mrs. Jones received a bachelor of arts degree from Marshall and a masters degree from Purdue University.

Chapter News

LOGAN COUNTY CHAPTER —

Over 125 people attended the fall dinner meeting Nov. 17 of the Logan County Chapter. Dr. Harry A. McGuff, chairman of the business administration department, discussed the role of the community in the development of the Logan Branch College. It was a very enthusiastic meeting and Logan is one of our most active chapters.

KANAWHA COUNTY CHAPTER —

The largest alumni chapter held its annual election of officers at the Charleston Civic Center. Mrs. Bessie Stewart, AB '34, MA '43, is the new president. Mrs. Stewart is a retired school teacher and since her retirement has been active in Charleston civic activities.

Vice president is Carl Little, '61, director of the W. Va. Council of Arts and Humanities which is administered through the state department of commerce.

Secretary-treasurer is Mrs. Sandy O'Shea Wells '63, women's fashion editor of the Charleston Gazette.

Plans were launched immediately to have a dinner meeting Jan. 10 in the West Virginia room of the Charleston Civic Center. The speaker will be Mr. Eddie Barrett, MU athletic director. The meeting is scheduled in conjunction with the Marshall-Morris Harvey basketball game. Marshall alumni will attend the game as a group.

CEREDO-KENOVA CHAPTER —

A reception was held following the Ceredo-Kenova-Vinson High School football game to introduce Eddie Barrett to the chapter members. Over 50 people attended the meeting.

We would like all chapters to report plans for meetings or any function sponsored by the chapter.

Reporters Sought

We are seeking reporters from each class to keep us up on alumni activities such as promotions, births, deaths, weddings and any other advancements. If anyone is interested in being the reporter for their class, please notify us as soon as possible. We would like to see which class can turn in the most news for our class-notes section.

Alums At MH

New faculty members at Morris Harvey College in Charleston, W. Va. include several Marshall graduates.

They include Mrs. Patricia Ball, instructor in speech, a 1965 Marshall graduate; Mrs. Louise Bryant, instructor in education, 1949 graduate; Thomas Lowe, instructor in geography, 1963 graduate, and William Plumley, instructor in English, 1963 graduate.

Alumni Day Is Set For May 25

Plans for the annual Marshall Alumni Day are well under way. The date has been set for May 25, the day before Marshall's commencement exercises.

Classes to be honored include the class of 1918 on its 50 year reunion, the class of 1943 on its 25 year reunion and the class of 1958 on its 10 year reunion.

"All the classes are encouraged to have their own reunions," according to Harry Sands, Alumni director. "It is up to them to plan some type of reunion for their own particular year," Sands stated. "We are in the process now of contacting class leaders so they can plan their reunion programs."

A banquet is planned for all graduates the evening of the 25th and the featured guests are the honored classes.

One of the main points of the banquet is the annual Alumni Association business meeting in which the new officers will be presented.

The highlight of the evening will be the presentation of the distinguished alumni awards given to the alumnus or alumni who have been outstanding in their field.

Campus tours will be conducted during the day and luncheons will be held by the various classes.

The committee is anticipating the appearance of an outstanding speaker for this year's banquet. They have received a favorable reply from the speaker whose name will be announced at a later date.

Athlete's Days Prove Valuable

A former Marshall track star, R. L. Dunlap, found out how valuable his former track days at MU would be to his later career.

He is a Secret Service Agent in North Carolina and recently had to chase down a suspect on foot to apprehend him.

He caught the suspect, who was arrested for possession of more than $3,000 worth of counterfeit $20 bills.

Dunlap is a 1958 graduate of MU. In addition to track, he played backfield for the MU football team.

2 Receive Medals

Two Marshall graduates were awarded the Distinguished Flying Cross. U. S. Army Major Freddie L. Kemp, a 1954 graduate, and Capt. Glenn Byron Bell, a 1964 graduate, received the medal.

Fred received his medal for exceptionally valorous actions in military operations in Southeast Asia. He served as leader of a flight of transport helicopters ferrying Vietnamese troops to a battle zone near Vi Thanh. Amid Viet Cong fire, the major safely brought in ammunitions and evacuated casualties of the South Vietnamese Force.

Glenn received his medal for saving the lives of two wounded men while serving with the 173 Airborne Brigade in Vietnam.

Despite enemy fire, he landed in the area and evacuated the two wounded men while he was critically low on fuel. He was piloting a utility helicopter when he saved the men's lives.

Fred is now a student at Armed Forces Staff College, a five-month school operated under the direct supervision of the Joint Chiefs of Staff. It prepares students for positions with joint and combined commands that involve more than one country or military service.

Judge Chambers Honored

A 1904 graduate of Marshall, Judge Chester Cush Chambers was honored recently by the Logan County Bar Association for more than 50 years of service as an attorney and more than 30 years as judge of the Logan Circuit Court.

Attorney John R. Glenn, president of the local bar, presented Judge Chambers a desk radio in recognition of his services.

Judge Chambers was admitted to the practice of law in the Circuit Court on Oct. 1, 1915 and actively practiced law until Jan. 1, 1937, when he began the first of his four terms as Circuit Court Judge.

He was nominated for judge in July, 1936, at the last judicial convention held in Logan County.

Chambers received a law degree from Washington and Lee University. He is active in church and civic organizations in his community.

He is a member of the West Virginia Bar Association, the American Bar Association, American Judicature Society, American Legion, and Rotary.

Yes, I want to be known as an ACTIVE MARSHALL ALUMNUS. Here is my contribution. I'll be looking for my Alumni Decal and Alumni publications in the mail.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

By GEORGE RORRER, '54

Sports Editor,
Huntington Herald-Dispatch

Following the bouncing ball is more than a game people play while singing along with Mitch.

Bouncing basketballs in fact, may be the salvation of Marshall's still-troubled athletic program.

Marshall fans looked to their prize basketball team for a big lift following a winless football season and another last-place finish in cross-country.

Coach Ellis Johnson's cagers weren't artistically perfect in their first two starts, but they were effective enough. Marshall defeated Morris Harvey and Morehead, a pair of old rivals, to get off to a winning start.

Athletic Director Eddie Barrett, meanwhile, was searching for a football coach to replace Charlie Snyder. President Stewart H. Smith, on Barrett's recommendation, reassigned Snyder to the position of associate dean of students.

Snyder got the word about his dismissal on the Monday before Marshall closed its season at home against East Carolina. MU then bowed to the Southern Conference Bucs for its 10th defeat of 1967, and a school record 11th in a row.

Barrett said he expected a new coach to be named by mid-December.

In cross-country, Marshall ran a poor seventh in the Mid-American Conference meet at Kent State. But sophomore Bill Hill turned in a 13th place individual finish, the school's best ever.

And hope beats eternally in the human breast: the freshmen finished fifth, missing fourth place by only one point.

At best, though, Marshall still has a long way to go in one of the nation's top cross-country conferences.

Despite the 1967 finish, the football outlook isn't all dark. The new coach can expect about 24 lettermen and several sophomores who have indicated they have MAC-caliber talent.

Brightest of the newcomers is quarterback Don Swisher, a scrambling quarterback who either passed for or scored every touchdown the freshmen registered in a 1-3 season.

Swisher isn't big. He's six feet tall and weighs only 155 pounds, soaking wet. But he's as slippery as a bar of soap when enemy linemen are trying to trap him.

Another impressive rookie offensive performer is speedy fullback Dickie Carter, a 5-9, 220-pounder with excellent speed. He hails from Man, W. Va.

Among the prospective returnees will be starting middle guard Cal Ball, defensive ends Larry Carter and Bruce Wallace, offensive tackles Bob Crabtree, Dave Lucas, Jim Shepherd and Benny Thomas, perimeter men George Hummel, George Riggs, Joe Ralbusky, Joe Gast and John Shellcroft, center Greg Gikas, linebacker John Kinney, offensive guards Ron Safford and Gale Smith, split end Barry Scragg, defensive tackle Wayne Bennett, middle guard Dave Ferguson, and three quarterbacks who have started two or more games, Meline Serdich, Jim Gilbert and Tim Deeds.

Nineteen seniors bowed out of the football program in the East Carolina game. Twelve of them plan to go into coaching, two plan to seek dental degrees, two want careers in business management, one will pursue a career in advertising, one plans a military career and one hopes to do graduate work in special physical education.

Meanwhile, Huntington is agog about the prospects for this basketball season. All five starters — George Stone, Bob Redd, Bob Allen, Danny D'Antoni and Jim Davidson — return from last season's National Invitation Tournament fourth place finishers.

The opener against Morris Harvey (a typographical error on the ticket spelled it Harvy, and MU caught hell from the Charleston Gazette's Shorty Hardman) was a sellout four days in advance. The second home game, against Kent State on Dec. 16, was a sellout a week and a half in advance.

About 3,100 season tickets were sold, including the ones that go to Big Green Club members and to faculty members. Regular price for the season tabs was increased to $30, and it now costs $3 for a single game reserved seat ticket.

Students (there are 8,500 and Memorial Field House, owned by Cabell County, holds only 6,350 people for basketball) were required to present their activity cards and pick up tickets in advance. Last year they were admitted on showing the activity cards at the gate. Student tickets were exhausted for the opener by midweek, leaving many empty handed.

Meanwhile, Athletic Director Barrett isn't missing any chances to tell the public about Marshall's need for athletic facilities. He envisions a domed 25,000-seat combination football-basketball arena.

And, get this — the dome will shine green after each Marshall victory.

Early in December coach Larry Coyer's wrestlers were doing better than expected. They finished second in a four-team field in an invitational tournament at Ohio University, then lost a dual match to Toledo.

They may not be improved enough to vacate the MAC cellar, but any improvement is encouraging.

Football recruiting was at a standstill because there was no head coach during the earliest days of signing. West Virginia University, for one, made hay by quickly landing three members of Bluefield's state Class AAA champions and four other state players.

Basketball recruiting under Ellis Johnson never stops, however. While he hadn't signed anyone for next season in early December, he had in mind the primary prospects he wanted. And, don't bet against most of them wearing green and white next fall.

QUESTIONNAIRE

As you have read elsewhere in the "Alumnus", Marshall is graduating more than one thousand students a year. In order to handle this mounting load on present facilities and offer you more efficient service, we must modernize the entire alumni records system.

Won't you please help us with this monumental task by sending us the information on the form below? Perhaps this information in our files will help you land a better position or locate a long lost friend!

If husband and wife are both alumni, be sure to fill out both sides of the form.

Please return this questionnaire to the Alumni Office by February 25, 1968.

Price Of Freedom's Call

There are many Americans in Vietnam today in the Armed Forces. In the United States, there are many Americans protesting the war in Vietnam.

In regard to this controversy, Sgt. Lawrence S. Perkey, 20, of Huntington wrote a poem entitled "The Price of Freedom's Call." Sgt. Perkey, a 1964 graduate of Vinson High School, attended Marshall University and graduated from Sanz Language Institute in Washington, D. C.

He is stationed with the 44th Signal Battalion in Duc Hoa, South Vietnam.

The Price of Freedom's Call

There's a war in Vietnam today.
Between Americans, Viet Cong, and the N.C.A.
History books tell of how the small nations tried,
After the communists have moved in,
terrorized and lied,
The Vietnamese people are ragged and poor,
While communist keep knocking on their door.

We send in troops while protests rise,

From communists, beatniks, and other weird guys.
Vietnam from the start has been a nation befriended,
Twenty-five years of fighting and yet not ended.

So the Americans came here to stop the flood,
Of Viet Cong terror and Vietnamese blood.
We're all here because there's a wrong
to be righted,
West Virginians, Ohioians, Kentuckians
united,
The Army, Air Force, Marines, with the Navy off shore,
Now who could ask for better, or more?

Let's look close at the daily routine,
Of a combat veteran, a boy dressed in green,
He lives in holes, wades water waist
deep,
Stands guard at night, and gets no sleep.
A boy you say, a man it would appear,
Yet he has just reached his eighteenth year.

Called to duty to go to war,
As millions of Americans have done before,
Now back in the states the lines are long,
The people protest but they are wrong.
They can't see that it's only right,
To help those people in their perilous
fight.

For 191 years America has responded to the call,
From oppressed nations both large and small.
We've helped France, Austria, Great Britain and even Korea,
Now this is no time to change our idea.
Off to the Jungle America sends her fighting men,
To fight for freedom, Seato and the UN.

We don't mind snipers by day and mortars by night,
Until a protestor says "But, it's not our
fight,"
The price of freedom's call is high,
For another American tomorrow will die.
